WOLD NEWTON CIRCULAR

The Lincolnshire Wolds provides views across the flat fens and salt marshes of Lindsey and Holland. On a clear day, you'll be able to see outstanding views of the country and coast from this walk. Look out for Grimsby's Dock Tower to the north, the wind turbines off the coast at Mablethorpe to the east and Tattershall Castle to the south west.

Man has shaped and influenced the landscape that we see today, and the archaeology of the area is national important. In medieval times the area was densely populated and evidence of this can be seen under your feet. Many of these settlements were eventually abandoned because of changes to farming methods, famine and The Black Death. Today, farming remains a key local industry with over 80% of the AONB currently being cultivated in a range of crops.

There are no facilities along the route so remember to take a drink and a pack-up with you. After you've completed the walk, you could stop to relax at Hall Farm Hotel and Restaurant or the Clickem Inn, off the B1203 near Swinhope.
